Heavy Rainfall Spotted

'Unofficial' 7-Inch Downpour At Taylor

Cooler Forecast

Heavy but scattered rains fell in parts of Nebraska Thursday night, as the weather bureau promised some relief for hot, parched Nebraska.

The heat wave, which has already claimed several lives, seems to be on its way out, at least temporarily, as a cooler mass of air is moving southward out of Canada.

First signs of relief were reported in the sandhills area.

The Omaha Weather Bureau Thursday night received a report of an "unofficial seven inches" of rain in the Taylor area near Burwell.

The report followed one of three inches in an area about 24 miles northwest of Broken Bow.

Cal Stewart of O'Neill told the Omaha Weather Bureau that the O'Neill area had received a "beautiful rain" totaling 1.10 inches.

Other rain reported included .69 inch at Sidney, .56 at Burwell, .09 at Scottsbluff and showers in the area 45 to 60 miles west and northwest of Norfolk. A trace was listed for North Platte. There were scattered showers throughout the Panhandle area.

Inman, Page and Butte also reported showers as did Ainsworth, Long Pine and Bassett.

Before the rains came some small prairie fires were set by lightning.

But meanwhile the high temperatures claimed two more lives. Wilfred F. Miller, 38, of 425 No. 10th, was Lancaster County's first victim.

Victor P. Nelson, 64-year-old Omaha painter, died Thursday of heat prostration. He was overcome while working at Omaha South High School.

The state's hottest point Thursday was Burwell which reported a high of 102. Imperial was close behind with 99.

But it was considerably cooler in the northwest corner of the state. The high at Chadron was 88 after a low of 63 and Scottsbluff's high was 84 after a low of 67.

The forecast calls for cloudiness through Friday evening with showers and thunderstorms in the east and central Friday and Friday night. Scattered thunderstorms are in the offing Saturday afternoon in the west. Highs are predicted to reach around 90 in the northwest to the 80s in the southeast.

W. F. Miller First Victim Of Heat Wave

A 38-year-old Lincoln man is the county's first heat wave fatality. Wilfred F. Miller of 425 No. 10th, a garbage hauler's helper, was stricken with heat exhaustion or stroke Thursday afternoon and died shortly after being taken by ambulance to a Lincoln hospital, according to the sheriff's office.

Mr. Miller had been working with a garbage crew near 3835 St. Mary's when stricken about 1:15 p.m. He was pronounced dead at the hospital at 1:30 p.m., the coroner's report said.

Employed since June 1 by Harry Mahr of Rt. 5, Mr. Miller formerly had been employed for about 15 years by the Wolf Cycle Shop. A hospital attendant reported Mr. Miller's body temperature reached 108.4 degrees.

The fire department resuscitator squad was summoned to the hospital to attempt to revive him.

Mr. Miller was born at Hastings in 1916. He is survived by his wife, Leola; son, Wilfred F. Jr.; daughter, Lilly Linetta Miller, all of Lincoln; a brother, Louie of Lincoln, and three sisters, Mrs. Martha Baird and Mrs. Ruth Louder, both of Lincoln, and Mrs. Mabel Lowell of Colorado.

Inmate Stuck Tight In Freedom Try

Frustrated — that was how a reformatory inmate felt Thursday night as guards found him wedged tightly between the bars of his steel cell door attempting to escape.

The man had obtained a hacksaw, presumably from another inmate, and had sawed an eight inch by 14 inch space through which he tried to escape.

A routine check by reformatory guards found him in his embarrassing position, his shoulders half-out of the door.

He told reformatory officials he had been wedged in the door for an hour. He failed to call for help earlier.

The inmate was greased by guards and removed from his uncomfortable situation.

Reformatory officials said he had escaped from the reformatory just a month earlier by taking a truck while a trustee. He was arrested in Tennessee and returned to the institution.

The inmate, serving five years on a robbery charge, had planned to escape to the Blue River, officials said.

The inmate had two more steel doors to break out of before he could have reached the watchtower.

He had been placed in a single cell in the reformatory jail since his escape.

30 Killed In Plunge Of Crippled Convair

PILOT'S ATTEMPT AT EMERGENCY LANDING AT FORT LEONARD WOOD AIRFIELD FAILS

FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (AP) — A flaming American Airlines plane, one wing sheared off by fire and seconds away from an Army airfield, crashed on this military reservation Thursday, killing all 30 persons aboard.

Rescue workers, hampered for hours by intense heat from the wreckage and burning underbrush, finally recovered all the bodies.

Eyewitnesses at the reservation's housing area, where some 5,000 persons live, told how the stricken plane roared overhead, 200 to 500 feet above the ground.

"At first we thought the pilot would make it," Beverly Street, a WAC private from Asbury Park, N. J., said. "Then we heard muffled explosions. Parts seemed to be dropping from the plane. We lost sight of it after that."

The bodies were taken to a temporary morgue, set up in an empty World War II barracks. Army ambulances shuttled back and forth over a freshly bulldozed path cut through the tangled wood. Less than one-third of the bodies could be readily identified. The rest were charred beyond immediate recognition.

The body of the plane struck in a ravine, shearing off a tree top. Civil Aeronautics Authority investigators and American Airlines officials began an immediate investigation into the cause.

The 27 passengers and three crewmen included eight women, two children and a Catholic priest.

A ban has been placed by city officials against fires of any kind in city parks.

This ban will remain in force, said Park Superintendent James Ager, until enough moisture has been received to reduce the danger of fire. Ager reported that there have been two fires in Van Dorn Park and one in Antelope Park within the last 24 hours.

It was only luck, he said, that the fires were discovered before much damage could be done.

Dry grass and trees would burn up now, he said, like a tinder box. It would take 25 years, he noted, to replace such a loss.

The prohibition against fires will be in force in all parks and includes fires of any nature, even those in the regular fire places or in shelter house fire places.

Witnesses said the veteran pilot, Capt. Hugh Barron of Tulsa, Okla., fought desperately to glide his crippled plane onto the military airfield for an emergency landing even as one of the wings dropped off in flames.

Between 150 and 200 soldiers joined in fighting the forest fire which spread over a one-third square mile after the crash.

Only minutes before the crash, Barron had radioed the St. Louis Municipal Airport that one engine was on fire. He would, he said, try for an emergency landing at the military airfield.

11 Are On Way Home

All In 'Fairly Good Health'

MANILA (Friday) (AP) Eleven happy U.S. airmen left today for Japan on their homeward journey from 2½ years in Red China's prisons.

The airmen, shot down in a B29 in the Korean War, crossed the Red China border Thursday near Hong Kong. They bitterly told of their ordeal of questioning in Communist China and denied Red charges of "spying."

The airmen were expected to give more details of their ordeal at a news conference Saturday in Tokyo.

Well-fed on steaks since their release at the British colony of Hong Kong Thursday afternoon, the men, although lean, were pronounced "in fairly good health." They told of better food and treatment just before their releases Sunday from a Peiping prison—a release that came as a complete surprise to them.

One On Crutches Maj. William H. Baumer, Lewisburg, Pa., was on crutches. His left leg was wounded when the airmen's B29 was shot down over North Korea Jan. 12, 1953. The leg also was badly frostbitten.

The men were not permitted to talk to newsmen at Clark Field, but they told their stories briefly at a news conference in Hong Kong during which they spoke bitterly of their "trial."

Col. John Knox Arnold Jr., Silver Springs, Md., declared the B-29 was shot down by MIG jet fighters while still 35 or 40 miles from Red China's frontier. One basis of the 4-to-10-year sentences meted out to them was that they "violated" Red China's air.

"I do not know the exact area," Arnold told newsmen, "but we were on a routine leaflet mission against six targets in Korea. We were picked up by the search light over the third target."

"We continued to drop our leaflets on the fourth target. We were attacked shortly after the fourth drop and on the fifth, just as we pulled the drop. And, on the sixth, we knew we had to abandon the aircraft."

Men Scattered Arnold said the men bailed out and became scattered. He was picked up by Chinese Communist troops the next morning.

Capt. Eugene Vaadi, Clayton, N.Y., took up the story.

"We were in the light and we were attacked almost simultaneously by MIGs and ack-ack fire," he said. "The No. 2, 3 and 4 engines were on fire and we were badly damaged. I gave the order to bail out at approximately 10:40 p.m."

"When we were first captured," Arnold said, "we were treated in accordance with the Geneva convention governing prisoners of war."

"Not until Jan. 16, 1954, did they come out with that story of our being shot down in China."

Year Lapses The men were taken across the Yalu River later into Red China, but more than a year was to follow before they were notified that they were to be tried.

In the meantime, they were subjected to Chinese questioning "for weeks and months on end," Maj. Ralph Bryant, public information officer of the Far East Air Forces, told newsmen at Clark Field.

Asked if Red China should be given any credit for freeing the airmen, Arnold declared: "Peiping is not entitled to a g. d. thing."

Arnold said he knew that their plane had been put on exhibition all over China to support Red charges that the men were "spies."

The airmen were told not to answer questions about their treatment under the Communists, but Capt. Elmer F. Llewellyn, Missoula, Mont., said about the food: "You wouldn't eat it. There was rice and I cannot overlook the cabbage—plain boiled cabbage over and over again."

Idaho Power Co. Wins Approval For Three Dams At Hells Canyon

... Demos Hit FPC Decision; Appeal Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Idaho Power Co., a private concern, was authorized Thursday to undertake a giant water power development in the Hells Canyon country, where public and private power interests have been fighting for dominance for years.

In a unanimous decision reached on July 27 and made public Thursday, the Federal Power Commission (FPC) granted the company a 50-year license to build three dams along a 100-mile stretch of the Snake River on the Idaho-Oregon boundary. They would flood the site of the proposed federal Hells Canyon Dam, a public power project.

On the same day the commission acted — July 27 — a House reclamation subcommittee voted 14-13 to approve the $464 million Hells Canyon project.

But the FPC did not issue its decision until Thursday, and meanwhile Congress had adjourned without acting on Hells Canyon.

The subcommittee's vote followed party lines, with Democrats favoring the project while Republicans opposed it.

Thursday, Sens. Morse and Neuberger (D-Ore) and Rep. Poff (D-Idaho) criticized the FPC decision sharply.

"Northwest Robbed" "The decision means that the Pacific Northwest has been robbed of its major asset in the attraction of new payrolls," Neuberger said. "That asset is low cost power."

Morse said the Hells Canyon battle is not yet over and that "the people's interest will prevail" in the end.

Officials and attorneys for the National Hells Canyon Assn., which fought Idaho Power's petition from the start, have indicated in the past that they would appeal to the courts any FPC decision in favor of private power. An association spokesman said a decision on the matter would have to await an Aug. 15 meeting of the board.

The FPC announcement said Oxbow and low Hells Canyon dams by Idaho Power "will preclude a federally constructed single high dam" at Hells Canyon site.

It added that after full consideration of the comparative economics of the two plans "we conclude that, assuming financing, both plans by the same entity, the ratio of power benefits to power costs of the three-dam plan is greater than for the one-dam plan."

Far-Reaching Decision The Commission's decision went far beyond the recommendation of Examiner William J. Costello, who had proposed licensing only the Brownlee project.

Development of the Snake River's water resources will stretch about 100 miles downstream from Weiser, Idaho.

Democratic senators and representatives, who backed legislation for the federal Hells Canyon Dam, contended the commission ruling represents a "political" decision and said the Eisenhower administration favors private power development.

The Democrats also criticized the timing of the commission announcement, saying they thought it was deliberately withheld until Congress adjourned.

FPC Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall denied this, saying the decision was processed "in regular shape."

The FPC said Idaho Power's development would provide at no cost to the government a million acre-feet of flood control storage and stream flow regulation to aid navigation on the lower river.

At Thursday's inquest, Shelton testified he didn't think his car had struck Boehm's jeep. But there were marks on both vehicles which officers said could have been caused by one vehicle glancing off the other.

The jeep driven by Boehm plunged off the highway at the south edge of Grand Island went through a fence, smashed into two trees and overturned. Katrouzos died a few minutes after the accident.

Charged were Robert Boehm, 29, Grand Island, driver of a jeep in which Katrouzos was riding, and Byron Shelton, Palmer, driver of another car traveling in the same direction at the time of the accident.

The action by County Atty. William C. Blackburn followed the ruling by a coroner's jury that recklessness on the part of the two drivers caused the accident.

Blackburn said it is the first time he knows of that both drivers in a Nebraska accident have been charged with motor vehicle homicide.

HEALTH MAY BE A KEY TO IKE'S PLANS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower indicated Thursday that health will be a factor in his decision whether to seek a second term.

The President said he probably could make up his mind right now if he could foresee the 1956 world and domestic situation "and my own situation, including the way I felt, and possible with (sic) the health and everything else."

Not A Prophet But Eisenhower said: "I have not that gift of prophecy."

The President commented on a meeting he had with Ohio Republicans.

Sen. Bender (R-O) told reporters the President, who will be 65 in October and would be 70 in the last year of a second term, noted that no president ever has reached his 70th year in the White House.

Members of the group also said the President told them the White House causes "physical erosion" in the man who occupies it.

Path To Obscurity

Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin must have left Washington at the close of Congress in an unhappy frame of mind. He utilized a portion of the closing hours of the session to deliver a scathing criticism of developments along the international scene, including the President in his blasts.

Some of his colleagues who until recent months generally expressed their sympathies toward McCarthy's views became the first to reply to him, more or less in the same salty language which has been McCarthy's stock in trade. They may have completely changed their ideas concerning America's course in a still dangerous world. Or in the spirit of American politics, they may have said to themselves that they have been fighting a lost cause, and it was time for them to change their tune. The fact of importance is that McCarthy stood alone, one man, breathing defiance and undertaking to warn the American people of the folly of their ways.

Not Going To Pot

The Bureau of Vital Statistics deals dispassionately in figures and does not consider that it has a function of comforting the human race. But now and then it finds itself in that role.

As a most recent bearer of good tidings it announced that Nebraska's birth rate was up during 1954 and its death rate was down. The trends were drawn from a comparison with 1953. Births increased from 32,633 to 33,617 while deaths fell from 13,298 to 12,741.

The Nebraska figures reflect a national pattern. A new America is coming on in greater numbers than a passing America is departing.

What is causing it? The answer is a complex one and sociologists may dwell on it at length.

Of Men And Things

BY J. E. LAWRENCE

That was a tale of from-riches-to-rags which was set forth so dramatically in the pictures on the front page of this newspaper of the mere trickle which the Blue River has become in its upper winding course above Milford. For those who have lived upon its banks or nearby, or those who have known the stream through the years, it is, indeed, an eloquent story of the precious basic element which water has become in the lives of people. A mere trickle today, less than a foot in width and three inches deep at the spot where the picture was taken, it was only a few years ago during the years of a wet cycle when the Blue in flood was an impressive torrent, overflowing its banks, hundreds of feet wide, relentless in its anger.

Conservation has become an old story to our people. Yet it cannot be said too often that two basic resources actually determine the shape of our lives. One is good earth, the rich black soil which thousands of years ago in the ice age came down with the glaciers from out of the North to spread itself in a thick deep coat over this region of the Great North American Plains. The other is water—precious water to bring that soil to bloom in the marvelous marriage between good earth and adequate water. As a boy the hot summer days contributed greatly to that insatiable spirit of adventure along the Blue. Daily in summer we swam in its cooling waters. In winter we skated upon its ice. We fished and we hunted, and each foray was exciting and satisfying to teen-age, tamed youngsters. Earlier, we were told, before people moved in to break the sod and to create a beautiful settled rural region, the waters of the Blue were clear, free of silt in a very large sense, placid in summer's heat and gilded with a glistening sheen when the early morning sun rose above the eastern horizon. The picture was taken at a point well upstream, not too many miles from the source, but it does tell the story and tell it effectively of the increasing use of water in a mature state. To more or less degree, it is the story of all the streams in a state with modern needs and modern ways of life.

There is still a lot of water in the Blue, particularly in seasons when the requirements decrease, and in all Nebraska streams. There is a lot of water in Nebraska underground upon which we draw and which we understand is replenished constantly as it flows from the high mountains and their forests to the lower elevations. But our most important undertaking at this time, a truly exciting one, is to endeavor to put to increasing beneficial use the waters with which nature has blessed us.

We know now that in the late fall, throughout the winter, and in the early months of spring, a lot of water flows downstream which later is worth its weight in gold. The manner in which to conserve it has been the subject of heated controversy and frequently unnecessary so when more deliberate thinking and less heat leave no other conclusion when to the last man there is a common mutual goal which can be stated simply in the words that the day has arrived when our single concern should be to make the most beneficial use of our water resources. That does not mean that we should be thinking about it during the months of the growing season here. We should be giving it thought the year around in seasons of riches and seasons of rags, in abundance and in scarcity, in cycles of plenty and years of drought.

That is a pretty large order for a busy people. Actually Nebraska and its people have done a better job than the people of many states. In this column on several occasions we have mentioned a 10-year program of development in Nebraska to expand irrigation to the maximum of opportunities, and at the end of 10 years if Nebraskans can have added 100,000 acres of irrigated land each year to its irrigation empire, they will indeed have taken a tremendous stride toward a more stable economy.

It is a development worthy of some attention. It is worth noting because it is some kind of a milestone registering present-day American thought. Have we lost our fear of the men in the Kremlin? Have the men in the Kremlin decided they have been wasting their time and in their own interest it becomes important to them to seek the common path leading to better understanding?

Whatever may be the explanation of this great change, the change itself in temporary terms is an accomplished fact. Much of the world breathes more easily at the present time. Joe McCarthy was a creature of the world's suspicions toward each other, its distrust of each other, its unwillingness to place any faith in each other. He lived in heady fashion for a few brief years and now seems to be moving towards obscurity. His rise and his fall in the thoughts of the American people are in themselves a tale of great fascination.

But there are a few factors apparent to the rank and file. America is a land of abundant living. There is enough to go around. It places a high value on human life and welfare. It cares for its ill and needy. It distributes its wealth better than most. People thrive in its environment.

And while we are on the subject we recall an older generation wagging its head over "the young people and the decline of the home." Well, those young people are now in business. They seem to be doing better with homes than ever before and as for children—they really love those little things.

bassadors of Red China and the United States are making out better than was expected. There is real basis for hope that the issues dividing the Red East and the Democratic West in the Orient can be resolved to the mutual satisfaction of both forces. World statesmanship is heading in a good direction.

It will be a long while before historians can trace this softening of world feeling to its exact sources. But there is one thing evident now. People—the rank and file—still do a lot of running of the world, chieftains to the contrary notwithstanding. And it is becoming increasingly evident that no one wishes to fight a war.

If this period of quiet develops into an era of world tranquility and good intention there will be a tendency to give credit to present leadership. And it is a fact that present leadership is facing a delicate task and must contribute great judgment and wisdom. But the present world state is a culmination of a series of decisions and actions ranging into the past, not all of them peaceable. One can never discount the light that was lit a decade ago by the United Nations, nor the firmness with which an earlier U.S. administration met aggression and blunted it in Korea.

Reassuring

The Minneapolis Tribune is refusing to respond in kind to the worrying economists who fear that the steady rise of credit nationally is a symptom of dark days ahead. It answered recently with figures from the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The national price level is exhibiting remarkable constancy which is the sign of a leveling economy. For instance the price index rose two tenths of a point between mid-May and mid-June, the first increase since November 1954. And even with the rise the current index is six tenths below a year ago.

The current index is based on price averages between 1947 and 1949 used as one hundred. In the light of that it is noteworthy that since November 1953 the index has moved within the narrow range of 114.2 to 115.2.

It may be that the economists feel that current earnings are not enough to meet current price levels, hence the dipping into the future through borrowings. But it is not a true inflation that does not take price rises up along with it.

Now Satellites

An earth bound satellite is still largely a set of mathematical notes on the scrapbook of science. But now-a-days science knows what it is talking about and we have the promise that a satellite in fact will be wheeling around its earthbound orbit within two years.

The significance of such a conquest of outer space leaves the average person a good deal short of full comprehension beyond the general feeling that such a thing can be good for human progress or very bad for civilization according to the intentions of nations. But there is one thing most people sense. Science is not a nationally held secret and no nation need be long away from outer space unless it does not care to play there.

Federal Insurance Aid Bill Blocked

WASHINGTON — The period during a congressional session when the public is most likely to get roused the most is during the mad rush to close, when the solons are anxious to get home. The newspapers and public-minded senators don't always have time to watch these sneak bills, and some lobbyists deliberately wait until the last days of Congress to shove them through.

Therefore, credit should go to Senators Olin Johnston of South Carolina and Tom Hennings of Missouri, together with representatives Jack Brooks of Texas and E. L. Forrester of Georgia, for blocking a big insurance company raid on the Treasury in regard to the Texas City, Texas, explosion.

Sen. Price Daniel of Texas had sponsored a Senate bill which would have reimbursed $41,200,000 to the insurance companies which paid damages in the Texas City explosion; plus about $50 million to Monsanto chemical — despite the fact that the highest courts had found the U.S. government was not to blame for the explosion of nitrate in the Texas City harbor.

However, Congressman Brooks blocked the bill in the House. He urged that small claimants be reimbursed but that the insurance companies who had assumed a business risk not be paid at the expense of the taxpayer.

In the conference committee between the House and Senate, Senators Johnston and Hennings backed him up. They knocked out the windfalls to the insurance companies and Monsanto Chemical but left in payments up to $25,000 to those who suffered from the explosion and had not received insurance.

Sen. Daniel, who has been the faithful champion of big business in Texas, refused to sign the conference report.

IKE STRADDLED

Note — The Eisenhower administration put itself on both sides in the Texas City disaster. It sided vigorously against Sen. Daniel and against payments to the insurance companies. On the other hand, Eisenhower appointed to the 5th circuit court of appeals John Brown, the Houston attorney who tried the Texas City claims case and was rebuked by the same 5th circuit court of appeals on which he will now serve.

Brown was shown to have changed the bills of lading on the nitrate shipments after the explosion so as to make it appear that the government was remiss in labeling the cargo. The U.S. courts, right up to the Supreme Court, found against him and held that the U.S. government was in no way to blame.

Whereupon Sen. Daniel introduced a bill to do what the courts refused to do. Whereupon also President Eisenhower appointed the defeated lawyer, John Brown, to the court of appeals which had rebuked him.

WHITE HOUSE REVERSES

During the closing days of Congress the name of ex-Congressman John S. Woods of Georgia was quietly withdrawn for appointment to the subversive activities control board.

Woods had been OK'd by the White House, had been cleared by the FBI after an investigation, and had been approved by a subcommittee of the judiciary committee.

Women Won't Tolerate Mr. Crockett For Long

Most little girls do not like to play Davy Crockett.

Neither do most big ones.

There ought to be an idea to mull over in there somewhere for the ardent, flat-heeled devotees of ultimate equality of the sexes. I have a hunch that Davy Crockett is more than a coonskin cap, more than a song, more than a souped-up legend to the male young fry of America.

The punch line in the 1955 version of Davy Crockett is "king of the wild frontier," and if you dig deep enough, you'll probably find that there is the hook whereon hangs Mr. America's enthusiasm.

If there were a meter to measure feminine enthusiasm, the chances are it would have recorded a great deal more approval among mothers, big sisters and the like about space helmets and rockets into the future than about anybody who killed a b'ar when he was three (which was pretty good going even for Jebadiah Smith, who was a better man than Davy Crockett ever hoped to be).

From the strictly masculine view that's the trouble with the world today. You take the average man, and he would be willing to haul in his meals on a fishhook or with an arrow every day — and what better bed can you find than a mess of balsam boughs laid out just right? There is hot and cold running water — in season, that is—in the bubbling brooks, and a lean-to with a good layer of sod over it sheds the rain just fine.

Try to sell that viewpoint to a woman, though, and what does it get you? Nothing but a wide-eyed reminder that you cannot plug a refrigerator into a juniper tree.

Whether it is good or bad, I have an idea that modern civilization, from can openers to busted atoms, can be blamed on the world's women. Not, mind you, that they ever invented a can opener or hammered an atom open. Nothing as crude as that. They have just sat back and blinked their eyelashes at some poor male who was smart in the wrong way, and who would really rather be out picking blackberries for a noon snack, and the poor befuddled guy has gone out and invented a kitchen sink.

After that, first thing he knew he had to have a house to put around the sink, and then an air-conditioning system to go in the house. With things like that to tend to, it was inevitable that he had to latch onto a job in a factory or office somewhere. Before anybody knew it, the natural course or events located the wildest frontier at the corner of Main and State Streets. If anyone thinks that's not wild, let him try to cross just a second before the light changes to red.

Arab Unity Base Of Egypt's Reform

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt — Prime Minister Nasser follows a political course reminiscent of a U.S. senator he otherwise little resembles — that of William Langer of North Dakota. Both are ardent "New Dealers" but isolationists.

This makes Sen. Langer contradictory at home, both as a Republican and a liberal. Nasser doesn't have to care about that. He speaks for an army dictatorship and while they may convene a "parliament" next year, they "haven't decided" whether to make it elective.

After an initial big military parade, the Egyptian new deal has featured the anniversary celebrations. Placards proclaim the "welfare state." Nasser also says the regime must go on with what he calls the service side or it will lose public support.

Asked to describe the revolution's greatest achievement, he said instantly, "The end of feudalism and the liberation of the individual." Land reform was its beginning, he said; it provided other than material values to the almost-outcast fellahin of the monarchy.

His isolationism is Arab, not Egyptian only. It was a blow when Iraq broke to the West's collective security system by signing a pact with Greece and Turkey, and he conceded it.

Still, he said, the Arab League was a fact in spite of the agreement. It must go on, he insisted, if Arabs were not all to meet the must try not to follow America, says Israel. The league in the past, he thought, had not been working "in the right direction."

In any forms, Nasser stressed that Arab governments must have the trust and confidence of their people—the trust that they are working for their own countries, not others. He said frankly, "We are full of complexes about domination. We are not against collective security, but we want to feel and breathe freedom."

Reminded that Egypt outlawed the Communist party and jailed Communists, he was asked why then he criticized the West's efforts to halt Communist aggression through collective security pacts. He said calmly: "We are suspicious of all the great powers."

"To which of the world's nations do you look for ideological guidance?" A British correspondent asked. His answer was that Egypt must try not to follow America, Russia or Britain. He also dwelt on their differences from India, whose Prime Minister Nehru greatly pleased him by calling on his return home from Moscow.

Nasser said he did not care whether Egypt was called socialist or dictatorship, so long as it gave opportunities to its people.

Egypt's welfare state is, of course, in its infancy and a casual visitor can form only impressions.

Land reform, however, is a fact. Three-quarters of the arable land, all beside the Nile, was in the hands of 4,000 people of this nation of 22 million. The government expropriated it, paid the landowners about $10 an acre which they think furiously inadequate, and redistributed it, imposing acreage limitations. How well it is working the outsider cannot yet judge, and perhaps the government can't.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

Too Weary To Write, Too Pooped To Print

By MONA B. PARKER

There is nothing, apparently, that reduces man to one soggy, brow-mopping, common level quite as quickly or thoroughly as hot weather. A newspaperman thus uncomfortably hot, just as any other sweltering human, thinks about his discomfort almost to the exclusion of everything else, and usually what he thinks about, he writes about . . .

There were the two little kernels of corn sizzling in a skillet that couldn't have been much more heated than the Midwest during recent days. And so the popular song goes, they were simply too pooped to pop. . . .

The Table Rock Argus gave the same theme an editorial twist and explained one week's lateness of publication: "We were just too pooped to print." The staff was listless, indeed, almost to the point of not caring. "We figured it wouldn't make too much difference. . . . Most everyone has lost track of what day it is — and it's just as hot one day as another."

The Scribner Rustler maintained that their print shop registered 110 degrees inside compared with the lesser 103 outside temperature, and that the only thing saving Printing Foreman Billy Schlueter from succumbing to the heat from two linotypes and a melting pot was the timely arrival of three mails, two root-beers, and a bag of ice cubes, plus the promise of the evening off.

Under "Operation Vanilla" the Pilot-Tribune showed four Blair small fry at the old-fashioned but happy pursuit of turning the crank on the ice-cream freezer. What better way to beat the heat, queried the P-T, than to whomp up a gallon of homemade ice-cream? A gallon of the luscious stuff made a quart apiece for the enterprising lads, which they subsequently polished off, said the P-T, "with gusto — and chocolate."

Ken McCormick, new Stanton Register editor, will no doubt register favorably with his own men readers and any other long-suffering male in his bid for doing away with neckties, not only during the summer months but the year around. Clothing merchants might balk at first, but the loss in tie sales could be compensated by new shirt designs. "Men have never been slaves to fashion to the extent women have," groaned Mac, loosening his own neckpiece, "but the tie hangs on as a useless item of apparel."

Fairbury News Editor Virg Hill took note of a Colorado nudist wedding story with the comment that the bride's complete attire of a large bouquet of flowers must have saved the local society editor a lot of descriptive writing. And his supposition on music for the affair was "Here Comes The Bride — Sunburned Each Side."

Ho, hum. . . blame it all on the heat. . .

MARQUIS CHILDS

The Controversial Figure—Menon

GENEVA—Of the actors who move across the international stage with such extraordinary speed, none is more controversial today than India's V. K. Krishna Menon. His tall, almost emaciated, figure can be seen hovering on the periphery of the great events that seem in this remarkable summer to be re-shaping the world.

He came to Geneva at the beginning of the Sino-American conference, told reporters his arrival at that moment was a pure coincidence, and then held two long talks with each of the principals, Ambassador Wang Ping-nan for Red China and Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson for the U.S.A. He left for India after two days, convinced that the ambassadorial meeting had removed the prisoner issue and had thereby opened the way to a second stage at which the foreign ministers of the two powers would meet. He wore, as he boarded the plane, the somewhat martyred look of one who feels that his efforts in behalf of peace are unappreciated or, at any rate, not appreciated in America.

As to where the credit lies for release of the prisoners, which may or may not represent the beginning of later negotiations at a higher level to resolve far more complicated and difficult issues, no one at this close range can say. Certainly, great credit goes to Dag Hammarskjöld for his persistent efforts through the United Nations. But, in the view of this observer, when the record is written it will show that for all his appearance of being a busybody Menon has also contributed to the current easing of the tension that from time to time in the past two years has threatened war.

Without regard to how it may compare with the record as finally written, here is Menon's own version of the steps he has taken to bring Red China and America together. During a visit to Peking in the spring he discussed with Chou En-lai the possibility of an ambassadors meeting. In the following weeks he was closely in touch with Chou, who agreed to the kind of conference now going on.

At the White House on July 6 Menon put the concept of a conference up to the President and Secretary of State Dulles. They indicated it would be possible to hold such a meeting. Menon passed this word on to Nehru who was then in London at the conclusion of his visit to Russia and the satellite states.

Nehru, with the backing of Eden, used all his influence to get both sides to agree on the kind of limited objectives set for the present conference. For Nehru ever since the beginning of Indian independence the dominant motivation has been to avoid war at almost any cost, with the realization that another war, regardless of the degree of Indian involvement, would make it utterly impossible to weld a nation out of the sprawling subcontinent the Nehru government took over from the British. This has been the dominant motivation with other Asian powers — Burma, Indonesia, Ceylon.

In America it has looked like appeasement or worse, and Menon has been denounced again and again as the prime mover of surrender to Communism. He has been accused of being blindly partial to the Chinese Reds and blindly critical of America, the last an accusation he particularly resents. If the Communist Chinese mean to go through with an agreement to try to agree, as the Russians did at the summit conference, then Menon as prophet of peace may have his day in India.

Bus Service In State Is Shrinking Fast

By The Associated Press

There are only seven cities in Nebraska where you can still ride to work on a public transit bus, and if the trend continues that total may shrink further.

One of the seven has asked the State Railway Commission for permission to curtail its service. The Hastings Bus Lines, Inc., wants to close its service at 6:30 o'clock nightly except on Friday when stores are open until 9 p.m. It also wants to discontinue Sunday service.

Four Have Quit

Four city bus lines have quit this year — Scottsbluff, Beatrice, Fairbury and Fremont.

In each case the reasons given were lack of patrons and lack of profits.

This leaves only Omaha, Lincoln, Grand Island, Hastings, Norfolk, North Platte and South Sioux City providing transit bus service. South Sioux City is served by the Sioux City Transit Co.

In all cases the lines are privately owned but there have been suggestions that even in the largest cities, transit service may need substantial lift from municipal government.

Lincoln Plea

National City Lines, parent company of Lincoln City Lines, has asked the city to consider taking over the system. R. A. James, operations manager of the Lincoln system, predicted that if the present annual patronage loss, averaging 7 per cent, continues for three more years, the company will be financially finished.

The Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway Co., reported a 9 per cent drop in patronage in 1954, resulting in an operational loss of $126,433, but with the conversion to all-bus operation, the company asked and received a new 25-year franchise, four years ahead of the expiration of the existing franchise.

Adoption of the new franchise came after protected negotiations and there were suggestions from various quarters that municipal operation of buses be considered.

Omaha Fare High

An Omaha survey showed Omaha's fares were among the seven highest of 66 cities. The Omaha average was 17.5 cents for an adult fare, compared to the 66-city average of 14.1 cents.

In Lincoln the fare is 15 cents or two tokens for 25 cents. Norfolk, Hastings and Grand Island fares are 15 cents or two tokens for 25 cents and at North Platte the fare is 15 cents or 5 tokens for 50 cents. South Sioux City's fare is 15 cents or 5 tokens for 70 cents for adult transportation.

Outside of Omaha and Lincoln none of the bus companies provides 24 hour service. Bressler, the operator testified that operation lost $5,000 in 1953 and $10,000 in 1954; Beatrice had bus service for only five months, starting Aug. 20th 1954. The certificate of the Beatrice firm was revoked at its request Jan. 28 for lack of patrons.

Fairbury dropped out after showing that net earnings were only $1,383 in 1954 without taking out a salary for the operator.

STAN DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

I have taken a look at assets and liabilities and concluded that this has been a good month.

Income is one stride ahead of debt. The race is not over but income has become so used to looking at the back of Debt that it is very hopeful.

There has been no attrition of live-stock. The Siamese kitten is in good health.

The boxer is recovering from the itch that has kept him whimpering and scratching in the night.

I am at peace with my neighbors and sleep soundly. My appetite is good. Social life has been social. I think my swimming is improving. I go twice up and down the pool without having to lie on my back and breathe.

The other night I did a card trick after dinner which turned out successfully. This leads me to believe my hand is steady.

It has been a good month. Gradual and substantial improvement, as they say in the hog market.

The young lady who shares my improved condition is approaching her twelfth year. This has led to improvements in her general appearance. I can see that there are prospects of good material.

I do not think this child will become a starlet. A financial joy to her parent's declining years.

It was my thought this child would enter the movies. She should invite her starlet friends into our home. I would ship up taffy pulls and put on my sport jacket and entertain them on the mandolin.

The child would draw large sums of money which the movies love to pay to gifted young women. I would be an agent for her so she would not have to bother her head on finances. I would invest her money wisely and plunge small investments for her at the track.

I would give up my job and put all my effort into her future.

I see now that this probably will not come about. However, perhaps she will marry a millionaire. I will visit them regularly and entertain the young man with card tricks and witty stories.

It will be very peaceful. Just the three of us. If they desire to be alone, the young millionaire can send me on a long trip to Paris. I think that would be a nice gesture.

My vacation turned out strangely. By some miscalculation, I counted the days wrong and came back to work a week too soon. There is nothing that can be done about it.

It is a good deal like my check-book. The bank keeps accounts and I keep accounts. Although we went to the same schools, we rarely agree. For some reason I think I have more money, they think I have less.

Once a month we get together and argue it in a friendly fashion. Usually they convince me. But only because I have other things to do. If they are that hard up for a few dollars, let them have it, I say.

We are a little apart right now. My banker writes me sorrowfully, chiding notes: "You account is over drawn . . ."

I do not see why he should worry. I will put more money in. Anyway, he has tons of money in the bank. I have seen it behind the cages. Stacks of it. Once he told me it was a matter of keeping books balanced. I never heard of anything so silly. Is this the banking business or a balancing act?

If I wished to entrust my money to something flighty I would give it to a circus high wire man. Let us be serious, banker. Enough of this balance talk.

I think this shows a fairly firm and bright prospect. Money in the bank (whether it is mine or the banker's, no matter). Livestock in good shape. Health of family, excellent; prospects, pleasing.

The last vacation week I discount. It proves I have bigger things on my mind than taking time off. Same with my bank account. I add and subtract in round numbers. Keeping things in a general balance you might say.

A good deal like the hog market report: Firm, steady, future brightening.

Campaign On Refugee Relief Eyed

A stepped-up Nebraska effort to inform citizens about the refugee relief program was recommended here Thursday.

Chairman Martin Schroeder and Executive Secretary Roland Luedtke of the Nebraska Governor's Committee on Refugee Relief commented upon their return from a conference in Washington, D.C. There should be an immediate effort to get more sponsors for refugees, Luedtke declared.

The Rev. Mr. Schroeder said he would call an early meeting of the committee to discuss means of informing Nebraska citizens about the program.

The number of visas under the program has passed the 40,000 mark, and the rate has increased 60 per cent since the first of the year.

The number would continue to grow, of there were enough sponsors.

"No refugee can be issued a visa overseas to come to this country unless he has a U.S. citizen sponsor who assures a job, housing, and that he will not become a public charge," Luedtke said.

Nebraska has many opportunities under the refugee relief program to obtain skills that are in short supply, Luedtke added.

Fowler Heads Fund Drive

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) — Harry V. Fowler of Columbus has been named chairman of a committee to collect funds for a cloud seeding project in this area.

The Agricultural Committee of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce sponsored a meeting at which some 50 Platte County residents voted to join with the Cornhusker Weather Modification Assn. in raising money for a "rain increase" program. They empowered the agricultural committee to form a fund raising body and Fowler was named chairman of this group.

The acreage needs for effective cloud seeding is about one million acres, which would be achieved by joining Boone, Platte and Nance Counties. About $25,000 to $27,000 would be needed. More than $12,000 already has been raised, most of it in Boone County.

STANDARD GASOLINES

...balanced for top power, economy, and all 'round performance ... and raised to the Highest Octane levels in our history

Most modern high compression automobile engines call for increased octane to assure smooth, efficient, knock-free operation . . . and that's what they get with STANDARD WHITE CROWN and RED CROWN Gasolines, raised to the highest octane ratings in our sixty-six year history. But octane alone is not the whole answer. Good gasolines must be carefully balanced too—to take care of all the requirements of your car's engine, regardless of age or type. Standard Gasolines are balanced to give you controlled volatility—the right gasoline for the right season with no vapor lock even in the hottest weather; and to give you all 'round smooth, efficient, economical performance.

Fill up and find out what a difference these fine gasolines can make. Stop at Standard today!

Are all gasolines pretty much the same?

NO, THEY'RE NOT. Standard Gasolines are distinctly different. Our chemists and engineers conduct a continuing program of research and development to bring you the best in gasolines. In addition, Standard guards the quality of the gasoline all the way from the refinery to your car through private and exclusive terminal facilities, lake tankers, river barges, pipelines, tank cars and trucks. And a good thing to remember is this . . . no gasolines arrive at or go out of our terminals but Standard Gasolines.

You expect more from STANDARD and get it!

Ike Faces An Old Political Problem

... HOW OLD IS TOO OLD FOR PRESIDENT?

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has touched on a political problem that bobs up almost every four years.
How old is too old for a U.S. president?
Eisenhower obviously has been studying history. He reminded a group of Ohio Republicans, headed by Sen. George Bender, that this country never has had a 70-year-old president. If Eisenhower runs again—and wins—he will be 70 three months before his second term ends.

Haunting Spectre
To a politician old age can be a haunting spectre.
Having at last built himself up to the point he feels he is sure presidential timber, some of his advisers put him down with: "Sorry, pops, but you're too old." The 1952 conventions offer an illustration of the role age can play in politics.

Vice President Alben Barkley banked to be promoted to Harry Truman's place in the White House. But apparently he had heard rumors that, at 74, he was too decrepit for the job.
Every other candidate, Republican and Democrat, rode in from the airport or railroad station. But Barkley insisted on walking from the train to his convention headquarters.
"I used to walk this same route," Barkley said as he marched along the seven blocks, "when I didn't have the price of a taxicab."
Could Have Ridden
Well, he might as well have taken a cab, now that he could afford it. For some labor unions decided they could not support him, because in the words of Jack Kroll, director of the CIO's Political Action Committee:
"I have the utmost respect, admiration and affection for Vice President Barkley. It's a matter of extreme and sincere regret that we're not able to support him because of his age."
Psychologists say we tend to put our trust in persons in our own age brackets. If that is true, as this nation has more and more older voters, we may have more politicians lasting longer.
If Eisenhower studied his political history closely, he saw that six presidents took the oath while in their forties, seven were in their sixties, and the rest—and by far the most popular age—were in their fifties.

But he may have also noticed a curious fact about our most recent inaugurations: Franklin D. Roosevelt, almost 63; Harry Truman, 65; and Eisenhower, 62.
It could be a trend.

House Reclamation Group To Attend Lincoln Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Reclamation Subcommittee has completed plans for an October-November field trip to the Midwest, West, and the Northwest.
The subcommittee will open the tour with attendance at the National Reclamation Assn.'s annual convention at Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 24, 25 and 26. The schedule, made public Thursday, also provides for hearings and inspections of project sites.

On Oct. 27, the group will study the site of the proposed Mid-State unit of the Missouri Basin Project at Grand Island, Neb., and will hold a hearing on the project.
The following day, committee-men will inspect the area proposed for irrigation at the Red Willow Dam site at McCook, Neb. This unit, originally considered primarily as a flood control project, is now becoming regarded as more important for irrigation.
From McCook, the subcommittee members will drive to the Snake River in Idaho, where an inspection will be made Nov. 1 and 2 of the site of the proposed Hells Canyon Dam.

ATOM EXPERTS, STRANGE PACKAGES JAM GENEVA

GENEVA (AP)—The Palace of Nations, built in another era as home of the League of Nations, is caught up today in an atomic revolution.
Scientists from 72 countries are preparing for the atoms-for-peace conference within its historic walls.
Geneva is jammed with atomic experts, mysterious packing cases, plane loads of scientific papers, industrialists and newspaper correspondents.

Sold Out
Hotel space is sold out. Hundreds of visitors are staying in private homes or commuting from neighboring cities.
In the stately, marble halls of the palace, workmen mount the elaborate exhibits of their governments—heavy, sinister-looking machines, scale models of atomic power plants, complicated charts.
The conference, sponsored by the United Nations as part of President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace program, opens Monday. It will continue through Aug. 20.
One Of Largest
This first international meeting devoted exclusively to the peaceful uses of atomic energy will be one of the largest scientific conferences ever held.
A U.N. official said more than 1,500 government delegates will be on hand.

Scientists will exchange information on atomic developments—many of which have up until now been classified as secret.
Leading Scientists
The conference will bring together such figures as Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission; Sir John Cockcroft, director of Britain's atomic research center at Harwell Prof. Dmitri V. Skobelsyn, leading Russian atomic authority; and Pierre Guillaumat, administrator of the French atomic program.

Scientists will read 460 papers, dealing with such subjects as the world's power requirements in the next 50 years, experience with nuclear power plants and biological effects of radiation.
U.S. Exhibit Elaborate
The United States exhibit is the most elaborate. It includes a push-button reactor, which has its own building on the grounds of the palace.

It is a "swimming pool" type reactor, meaning the nuclear fuel is submerged in a circular tank in which the water serves as both a shield and a coolant.
At the end of the conference the $350,000 reactor will be turned over to the Swiss government, which bought it for research purposes.

It's Major Social Problem In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham said Thursday juvenile delinquency "has become a major social problem in the United States" and that he planned to "devote much attention to that topic next year."

Graham

"Increase in crime is alarming in this country," the Rev. Mr. Graham told the National Press Club, "and the situation in the teen-age groups is especially serious."

He did not outline what activities he planned, but said: "Ministers tell me the university students are the most responsive to religious teachings."

Prestige High
The minister said, "American prestige among the people of Europe is at the highest point since the war" and it was "due to the Geneva conference and President Eisenhower's work there."

"To see the President of the United States kneeling in prayer at a church in Geneva brought tears of joy to my eyes and I said at the time 'God will be with that man in the Big Four conference,' and He was."

The evangelist said great men of the world are worried about peace "but the basic problem we have wrestled with for centuries has not changed. We have starved our souls. We have failed to live up to the rules God set for us."

Talbot's Action Satisfies Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Investigations subcommittee announced Thursday that the resignation of Secretary of the Air Force Talbot was "satisfactorily resolved" its inquiry into his outside business interests.

Talbot resigned Monday, saying he did not wish to embarrass the President.

The investigation brought out that Talbot had retained a partnership in Paul B. Mulligan & Co. New York efficiency experts, and had drawn more than $132,000 as his share of the firm's profits during the 2½ years he was in the Pentagon.

Dispensing with the usual official report, the subcommittee issued a five-paragraph statement signed by Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) and Sen. Mundt (R-SD), a senior member.

State Pediatricians Recommend Salk Shot Delay

The Nebraska Pediatric Society has voted unanimously to recommend withholding administration of polio vaccine "pending approval by the American Academy of Pediatrics," Dr. Paul Bancroft, state president, said Thursday.

He said the recommendation applies both to the school program and administration by private physicians of commercially supplied Salk vaccine.

The Nebraska Pediatrics Society made the recommendation at a meeting in Omaha Wednesday.

Dr. J. Marshall Neely, Lancaster County Medical Society president, said Thursday he believes the action of the county society's polio advisory committee "should demonstrate the thinking" on giving shots here.

The advisory committee of the county society recommended, in special session last Saturday, the inoculations be continued during the summer.

The Saturday recommendation, in their report the scientists said the new process makes it possible to remove polio virus from the medium in which it is grown, producing a concentrate made up of 99.9 per cent of the deadly germ.

Present polio vaccine contains virus which is not freed from most of the extraneous materials in which it is grown and treated. This complicates safety testing, the scientists said.

Polio Rising, But Low In Most Areas

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government reported Thursday that polio continued its mid-summer rise last week, striking hard in Boston and the northeast, but remained at relatively low levels elsewhere.

The U.S. Public Health Service noted a 27 per cent rise to a nationwide toll of 1,307 new cases, well below the average of 1,497 for the same week in the past five years.

Included in the weekly toll were six paralytic and 22 non-paralytic cases among the six and a half to seven million children inoculated with Salk polio vaccine.

This brought the total of such cases to 138 paralytic and 109 non-paralytic since the mass inoculation program for first and second graders began last April. But the government cautioned against any conclusions being drawn from these figures.

Officials said that, in general, the total number of polio cases for the year is close to the lowest levels for any year in the past five.

Scientists Say They Have Safer Vaccine Method

PHILADELPHIA (P)—Scientists at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia said Thursday they have found a safer, quicker and less expensive way to produce and test polio vaccine.

In their report the scientists said the new process makes it possible to remove polio virus from the medium in which it is grown, producing a concentrate made up of 99.9 per cent of the deadly germ.

Present polio vaccine contains virus which is not freed from most of the extraneous materials in which it is grown and treated. This complicates safety testing, the scientists said.

Rites For David Cravens Friday

The funeral of David J. Cravens, 77, of 1701 So. 24th, will be at 3:30 p.m. Friday at Hodgman-Splain with Dr. Frank A. Court officiating.

A noted civic leader and retired state manager of the Kansas Life Insurance Co. for Nebraska, Mr. Cravens died Wednesday. Burial will be in Nevada.

He had been a Lincoln resident for 46 years and retired in 1951 after 55 years with the company.

New Light And Water Records Set In July

PLAINVIEW, Neb. — During the month of July, Plainview's light and water departments set new records.

A total of 290,100 kilowatts were generated together with a daily average of 200,000 gallons of water being pumped.

a reversal of the committee's previous stand, was made after the committee received a National Polio Foundation report saying 26 representatives of medical and health groups, including the National Academy of Pediatrics, had agreed in June that shots should be continued through the summer.

Dr. John Brown, chairman of the county advisory committee, affirmed the Saturday recommendation, saying it was based on the latest available information from a medical standpoint.

Dr. Bancroft said the stand of the National Academy of Pediatrics —against giving shots during the summer — was repeated in a telegram July 30.

Dr. John Thomas, a member of the Omaha-Douglas County Health Board which has decided to delay inoculations there until Nov. 1 had said pressure was applied to try to bring about continuation of the vaccine program in the state.

Dr. James T. Googe, Lincoln-Lancaster County health director, said no "political pressure" forced this county to continue the program.

"Continuation of the program during the summer is sound," he said, "and as a physician and health director I would be afraid not to give the shots."

Increases Immunization

Dr. Googe said, "Children should have the protection of a booster shot, which substantially increases the immunization level."

There were 465 children who received booster shots at the city-county health department Thursday.

Dr. Googe said the previously published schedule for giving booster shots will be followed. The Friday schedule:

8:30 a.m., children who attend Huntington, Saratoga, Hawthorne and Eastridge schools.

1:30 p.m., children who go to school at Park, Randolph, Lakeview and Willard.

LWC Departments Plan Year's Programs To Present Guest Speakers

The Lincoln Woman's Club department leaders and members of their committees have been meeting through the hot summer afternoons the last several weeks to complete plans for their group's activities and programs for the coming year.

Many noted speakers have been chosen to spark the department's programs and the study topics this year promise to be topical and of wide general interest.

AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP
Beginning their fall series of meetings on Sept. 26 will be the members of the American Citizenship department who, appropriately, will open their season by honoring new American citizens at a covered dish luncheon.

On Oct. 3, an address, "Assimilating New Citizens," will be given by Mrs. Maude Boucher, and will be followed on Nov. 7, by a program at which Judge Herbert Ronin will be guest speaker. Judge Ronin will speak to the members on the topic, "What Your Husband Didn't Tell You." At a morning meeting to be held at 10 o'clock, Nov. 28, Charles Thone, assistant U.S. district attorney, will speak on "Americanism."

The department will entertain at tea on Dec. 5 to raise funds for the federation's international scholarship program and featured speaker at the tea will be Gary Cadwallader, Lincoln student, who spent last fall and winter studying in New Zealand schools. Mr. Cadwallader's topic will be, "Six Months in New Zealand."

The group's project day will be held on Jan. 30, and a talk on, "Estate Planning," will be given by Howard A. Chapin on Febr. 6. The Feb. 27 meeting will feature a talk, "What To Do In Case of Auto Accidents," by Russell Matson, and on March 5, a panel discussion, "Washington Semester," will be presented by a group of political science students at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

The final program of the year will be held March 26, when the members will hear a talk by Prof. A. C. Breckenridge on, "Education for Citizenship."

Leader of the citizenship department is Mrs. Frank B. O'Connell and other department officers are Mrs. J. T. Holland, assistant leader, and Mrs. Robert C. Ellis, secretary-treasurer. Department committee members include: reception and door, Mrs. L. S. White, Mrs. Charles Jenkins; program, Mrs. Blanche Bradford; Mrs. Guilford Abbott, Mrs. Nathan Grossman; social, Mrs. Roy A. Sheaff, Mrs. H. V. Syer; ways and means, Mrs.

MRS. FRANK B. O'CONNELL

MRS. FRED M. STRASSER

Jensena Hastings; telephone, Mrs. William F. Damkroger, Mrs. Estelle Alloways; membership, Mrs. L. T. Shirx, Mrs. James W. Thomas; project, Mrs. George Mechling, Mrs. H. A. Schoenthal, Mrs. Walter E. Hall.

AMERICAN HOME
A variety of programs of special interest to homemakers has been planned by Mrs. Fred M. Strasser and members of her program committee for the American Home department which will hold its first fall meeting on Oct. 14. Following an informal social hour, Miss Ruth Mencher will speak and give a demonstration on, "Foods for Freezer Spotlight."

Dr. Frank A. Court, minister of St. Paul Methodist Church will be the guest speaker at the group's Oct. 28 meeting when he will review the book, "Gift From The Sea," and on Nov. 11, a timely talk on feminine fashions, "Eye View of Winter Fashion," will be given by Mrs. Helene Cooper.

The department's annual project program will be held Dec. 9, and will feature, "Christmas Carols on Film," and early in January, the department members will participate in a discussion, "Your Home Charming." Miss Pearl Hall will be guest speaker on Jan. 27 when she discusses, "The Role of Women in Other Countries," and a program on floral arrangements, "The Flower Box," will be given by Wayne Whitney on Feb. 10.

The annual luncheon of the department will be held Feb. 24, at the YWCA, when Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Gould will address the members on, "People of Turkey," and on March 9, a demonstration and talk, "Cooking Is Fun," will be given by Miss Ann Heiliger.

A supplementary program to take the form of a conversational hour on the topic, "Customs and Traditions," will be arranged at a later date, and the department's annual tour will be held on March 23, when the members will visit the Union Pacific Historical Museum in Omaha.

Committee members of the home department are: reception and door, Mrs. J. J. Grovert, Mrs. L. F. Meirer; social, Mrs. Estelle Alloways, Mrs. Thad Bean, Mrs. Harry Gertson, Mrs. M. E. Rolfsmeier, Mrs. G. L. Hewitt, Mrs. William F. Damkroger, Mrs. Clarence Carlson, Mrs. W. H. Diers, Mrs. W. H. Osborn; project, Mrs. E. E. Taylor, Mrs. W. B. McMullen, Mrs. J. P. Valentiner; program, Mrs. C. M. Stewart, Mrs. R. D. Traver, Mrs. I. C. McReynolds, Mrs. Ellis Verink and Mrs. Jensena Hastings.

Mrs. G. R. DesJardien is assistant leader, and secretary-treasurer is Mrs. J. E. Murray.

TALK Of The TOWN

Shine Up The Shoes

Light Fantastic Time Is Around The Corner

It isn't long until October, according to the weeks on the calendar, and this morning we're exceedingly interested in October due to the fact that many of the groups that share a passion for tripping the light fantastic and thus come under the heading of "dancing clubs," will don their best bib and tucker, and get the dancing season under way.

There are, we discovered, a few meetings of club committees in September when the year's parties will be planned—and we also learned the Cotillion Club will have its annual dinner meeting in September when, as usual, they will take up the business of new members. We wondered who would serve as Cotillion Club president this year since the new prexies, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jay, have moved away. We learned that there is more or less an unwritten law that the secretary-treasurer steps in to fill the vacancy—If so, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stewart will do the honors.

Sometime during the first week of September the members of the Revelers club will meet to elect new members and new officers for the forthcoming season which opens on Saturday evening, Oct. 22. The party is to be a dinner dance.

The 100 Club, however, plans to begin its season quite early in October—in fact the date is Oct. 1, and this very festive group also has planned a dinner dance.

A dinner dance on Saturday evening, Oct. 15 will begin the season for the members of the Saturday Night Club, and we learned that the club's official staff for the season includes Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sweeney, president; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hall, vice president, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jelinek, secretary-treasurer.

A bridge party has been planned for Tuesday evening, Oct. 4.

The first dinner dance of the season for members of the Holiday Club is planned for Saturday evening, Oct. 29, and it could be that the officers are planning the party—But whether they are or are not, the executive branch of the Holiday Club is composed of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Feriot, president; Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Ricketts, secretary-treasurer.

New To the University of Nebraska campus are Prof. and Mrs. George W. Steinbruegge and their two children, David and Elva. The Steinbruegge foursome arrived in Lincoln not too long ago—in time for the hot, hot weather which, judging from the picture, is combatted by three-fourths of the family with tall, cool drinks.

Prof. Steinbruegge, a graduate of the University of Missouri, will be a member of the engineering faculty at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture this year. But Prof. Steinbruegge already has plans for his leisure moments—if and when he has any—he has a do-it-yourself shop. Mrs. Steinbruegge also was graduated from Missouri, and will do her do-it-yourself work in her garden—come next spring.

NEVER THE SAME

THERE'S one thing about news—the tune may be the same but the words are always varied—For instance we've had considerable to say about vacationers, homecomers and guests the past few days—and we find that the supply is far from exhausted—but somehow we never find the theme monotonous due to the fact that different people are doing different things.

IN THE homecoming department this morning are Mr. and Mrs. John Angle and their two children, Margaret and Jimmy, who have returned from Hackensack, Minn., where they spent a two weeks holiday.

AND then we heard that Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward McLaughlin and their daughter, Jane, are home from Manitoba, Canada where they were the house guests of Mrs. McLaughlin's mother, Mrs. William Corbett.

IT'S a few weeks yet until Sept. 6—but that is the homecoming date for Miss Kay Erickson, Miss Ginny Wilcox, Miss Colleen Farrell, Miss Susie Good, Miss Shirley Dewey and Miss Ann Douglass, who have been caring at Estes Park this summer.

HEARD, too, that Miss Cynthia Morgan will be completing her studies at the University of Michigan summer session one day soon, and will be returning home sometime in mid-August.

AS FAR as we are concerned a vacation at any time of the year is just our dish of tea, but there seems to be a running debate as to whether vacations in early summer, mid-summer—or winter—are preferable.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Latsch, chosen summer and hied themselves off to Santa Barbara, Calif., for a two weeks visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miles—and plan to be home again on Aug. 17.

HEARD, too, that Miss Phyllis Colbert left Monday evening for Grand Lake, Colo., where she will spend the remainder of the summer as a career girl and where, we hear, she will be joined by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Colbert, in about two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Colbert plan to spend only a brief time at Grand Lake.

THEN, there is Miss Mary Janet Reed is participating in the Wayne State Teachers College speech clinic at the moment, but will be home from there on Aug. 13—just in time to unpack, repack, and be off on a vacation in California.

THE guest book is well filled this morning—Just learned that Mr. and Mrs. Richard Salladin of Charlottesville, Va., were in Lincoln for a Monday-to-Wednesday visit. Mr. and Mrs. Salladin stopped off enroute to their home from Denver, Colo., where they had been visiting Mr. Salladin's aunt, Miss Helen Chase.

AND ALSO in town for a day or two have been Mr. and Mrs. Merle Loder of Winnetka, Ill., formerly of Lincoln, who were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Loder, Mr. and Mrs. Loder were en route to California where they will spend a month with their son-in-law and daughter, Lt. and Mrs. Randy Ayer who are stationed at Twenty Nine Palms.

To Be Bride Today

The marriage of Miss Donna McCandless, daughter of Mrs. Frances McCandless of Lincoln, to Paul H. J. Carothers, son of Mrs. Maybell Carothers of Mason City, and Dr. P. H. J. Carothers of Broken Bow, will be solemnized at a 4 o'clock ceremony this afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church in Kearney. The Rev. Mr. Hamilton will solemnize the service.

For her wedding the bride will wear a gown of white lace in the ballerina length, and she will complete her costume with a small, jeweled half-hat in matching tone.

Mrs. Donald Lehmer of Omaha will be the matron of honor and only attendant, and Howard Spencer of Broken Bow will serve Mr. Carothers as best man.

Miss McCandless is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and the bridegroom is a graduate of Peru State Teachers College.

The couple will reside in Hooper.

Home Again

Misses Berna and Clara Miskell have returned from a two months' trip through Europe with the Nebraska Wesleyan Tour led by Dr. David Mickey. The party sailed from New York City on June 8th and traveled through eight European countries by private motor bus. Most of the party, all Nebraskans, returned on the S. S. Homeric, which landed in Quebec on Monday. Some members visited the Scandinavian countries and will return later. The Miskell sisters returned by plane from Quebec on Wednesday.

In pre-nuptial courtesy to their granddaughter, Miss Mary Jeanette Moore, who will become the bride of Robert Maahs on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 7, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnson and Miss Judith Ann Johnson, and Mrs. Bea Eaton, all of Ottumwa, Ia.

It isn't fun to say goodbye—that is, most of the time—but when the young crowd gets together for a farewell courtesy, things can be and usually are, quite festive.

For instance Miss Judy Lytle entertained at a breakfast and swimming party on Thursday morning to say goodbye to the Misses Lois, Judy and Sharon Miller who, with their parents, are moving to St. Paul.

Workers Asking A Larger Share Of Prosperity

Small Firms Face Trouble With Strikes

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Strike activity is increasing and the trend may continue through the rest of the year.

The reason is this: Labor unions say their members rate a bigger share in the nation's prosperity, while many employers say they can't afford to meet the union's demands.

Government experts expressed belief Thursday that this haggling over the fruits of the industrial boom is likely to grow more intense in the remaining months of 1955.

They feel that unions all over the country will be trying to match the early summer settlements in the auto and steel industries and that smaller and perhaps less prosperous employers may put up more resistance.

3-Year Contract

The three-year auto contract called for wage, pension and guaranteed lay-off pay provisions amounting to about 20 cents an hour in labor costs. The one-year steel agreement called for an average 15 cents an hour boost.

James Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said in an interview he looks for a rash of scattered small strikes during the late summer and fall.

"It seems to me some of these smaller companies may be heading for trouble," Finnegan said.

"Whether the little fellows are going to be able to absorb that kind of labor cost increase is something else again."

2,075 In First Half

Secretary of Labor Mitchell reported at a news conference Thursday that there were 2,075 work stoppages during the first half of this year, causing 11,200,000 man-days of idleness. This compared with 1,930 strikes and 9,010,000 idle days in the first half of 1954.

The 1955 figures, although higher than last year's postwar low, are well below most other recent years. The 11,200,000 lost man-days so far this year compare, for example, with 32,700,000 during the first six months of 1952.

Gratified

Mitchell said the record of strike idleness in the first half of this year was "gratifyingly" low in view of the country's high prosperity and the fact that a greater number of contracts were negotiated this year than last.

Mitchell's report showed a marked increase in industrial strife in June. Some 500 stoppages involving about half a million workers began in that month, compared with 375 new strikes affecting 170,000 workers in May. Idleness jumped from 2,600,000 in May to 3,400,000 in June.

Strike effects on the over-all economy have not been too noticeable. Business conditions have been so good generally that strike losses have been submerged or absorbed.

Inmates Seek Habeas Corpus; Judge Orders Court Hearing

Two Nebraska Penitentiary inmates, contending they were unlawfully sentenced on purported counts of habitual criminality, are seeking their prison release on writs of habeas corpus.

Lancaster District Court Judge Paul White has ordered Warden Joseph B. Bovey to present the two inmates for court hearing next Monday.

They are Raymond E. Loewe, 52, and Frances J. Diggins, 28, both of Omaha, who were sentenced as co-defendants in the Dawson County District Court to two years on a conspiracy count and to 10 years on a habitual criminal count, both terms to run concurrently.

Sentenced Feb. 16, 1954, Loewe and Diggins contend they have served (with good time) the conspiracy count and are being unlawfully held in prison.

They allege that the Dawson County Court proposed in its judgment to impose two sentences, one for habitual criminality.

The sentence on the habitual criminal count, the writs allege, is "null and void" because habitual criminality in itself is not chargeable as a crime and the court is without jurisdiction to pronounce sentence as such.

The two inmates were convicted on pleas of guilty to both counts. Conspiracy to commit a felony was charged in connection with an alleged attempt to break into a building Feb. 14, 1954, in Dawson County. On the habitual criminal count, each man admitted four previous convictions for felonies.

The writs were filed for Loewe and Diggins by Norma VerMass, a Lincoln attorney.

He said that if the budget bureau and Congress continue to appropriate funds on such a limited basis the 1961 target date is not even feasible.

The governor said that to help Nebraska solve its power shortage appropriations should immediately be stepped up for the Oahe Dam in view of the decision that the 230-kilovolt line from Ft. Randall to Grand Island is not economically feasible.

The Missouri Valley Development Association, through Director John Quinn of Lincoln, issued a statement saying that less than 20 per cent of the eventual power demands by 1975 can be met by federal hydro projects. He urged basin state governors to work for stepped-up appropriations.

He said that in addition to inadequate funds for Oahe planning funds for the Big Bend Dam authorized in the 1944 flood control act have been withheld.

Iowa Governor Just An Officer

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn. (AP)—The Iowa-Nebraska 34th Infantry National Guard division will have another officer in the ranks Saturday.

Col. Lee Hoegh, Chariton, will report for duty in headquarters. Iowa's governor will be just another staff officer.

It will be an unusual dual role. As governor Hoegh is commander-in-chief of the guard. But as colonel, he will be out-ranked by Iowa's adjutant general, Fred C. Tandy, Des Moines, and by a Nebraska newspaper publisher, Maj. Gen. Warren C. Wood, of Gering, division commander.

Before his election, Hoegh held the job as plans and training officer for the division.

He will arrive by plane, accompanied by Gen. Tandy, from Casper, Wyo., where Saturday morning he will attend Governor's Day ceremonies at the Iowa-Nebraska Air Guard encampment.

Nebraska's adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Guy N. Henninger will leave Friday by air for Lincoln to pick up Gov. Anderson and take him to the Governors' Day wing review of the Iowa-Nebraska Air National Guard in Casper.

Plow Strike Averted

MOLINE, Ill. (AP)—Negotiators for the Farm Equipment-United Electrical Workers Union and Deere & Co. plow works at Moline reached agreement on a new contract Thursday, averting a strike scheduled for midnight Friday.

Singer Wakely Sued By Girl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An 18-year-old girl Thursday demanded $50,000 damages from Jimmy Wakely, singing and guitar-playing cowboy, in a suit which accuses him of attacking her "with force and violence."

The action, filed in behalf of Anita R. Hayes by her mother, Mrs. Thelma R. Hayes, said the alleged attack occurred April 25 while Miss Hayes was "lawfully in Wakely's Hollywood office."

Wakely's attorney said that the singer, away on tour, would deny the accusations.

Infantry Regiment Holds Overnight Bivouac, Alert

FORT CARSON, Colo. (AP) — Nebraska's 355th Infantry Regiment was on an overnight bivouac Thursday.

Truckloads of Nebraskans moved to the field to conduct a compass problem over the difficult terrain of the military reservation.

Following the problem the regiment will be on a tactical alert. Meanwhile the 342nd Field Artillery moved back into Carson following the 342nd showed improvement over last year in the handling the guns and in their fire direction center.

Alp Climbers Killed

ALBERTVILLE, France (AP) — Two climbers were killed and five injured in an accident on 8,400-foot Thorens Peak in the French Alps.

Two priests were climbing with eight Paris schoolgirls from a holiday camp when one girl fell, dragging her companions with her. In falling, the group fouled the rope linking other members of the party, sweeping them along too.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your figures, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the circled figures give you.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

Our undercover man in the Army blanket factory reports mutiny on Ike's atomic ark.

It's been back and forth between the Senate and the House oftener than the motorman on the underground railroad.

Now Ike's only chance is to get a tattooed chairman on the committee.

Hickenlooper from the deepest section of landlocked Iowa voted for the storm-tossed re-actor. It went to the Committee on Nobody's Business, who are the original foundering fathers of the Navy.

What puzzled the Republican cells in the Senate is the personnel of the crew. They suggest experienced wax dummies from Yucca Flats.

Ike's request for a reasonable over-draft set up a chain reaction in the senatorial locker room. The committee wanted to know what

The Senate has demonstrated it is not Ike's wading pool. But it eventually gets around to seeing things over his shoulder.

Things are getting fairly peaceful now. Soon the tourists will get their cameras back. Then Ike will get his atomic argosy with a passenger list of botanists and retired librarians.

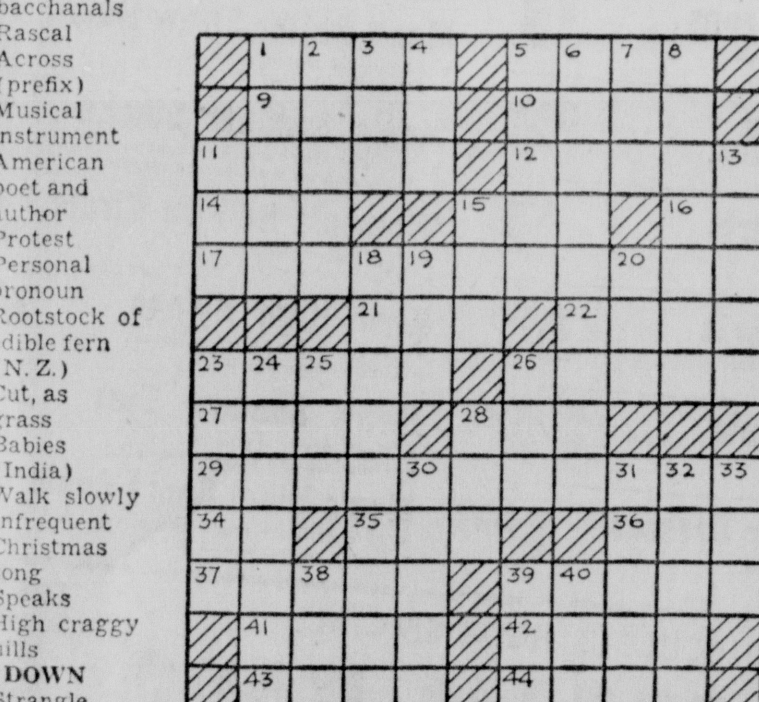

We already have two atomic submarines and are working on a super-duper that will not make bubbles.

So there's no reason why we shouldn't have a flissinated fleet of tramp uranium-burners.

All the plans are okay except for one microscopic detail which may tilt the smorgasbord table.

The funnel makes mushroom clouds.

Jensen, Piersall Lead Red Hose At Plate, Kinder Stars On Mound

BOSTON (AP)—Jackie Jensen and Jimmy Piersall—a couple of guys who play outfield with slugger Ted Williams—accounted for all but one Red Sox run Thursday as battling Boston defeated Chicago 7-3 to cut the White Sox American League lead to two percentage points.

The victory pulled the fourth-place Red Sox to within two games of the AL top in the hectic pennant race.

Old Ellis Kinder, relief man extraordinary, strolled in from the bullpen in the eighth inning to retire the final five batters with just 13 pitches and preserve Willard Nixon's 11th triumph.

Jensen, whose two-run double wrapped up yesterday's game, drove in four runs with a two-run triple, single and sacrifice fly to boost his runs batted in total to 24. Piersall, contributing more fielding gems, crashed a home run, double and single good for two runs. Norm Zauchin also homered for the winners.

A crowd of 19,346 paid 27,108 total watched the Red Sox win the series two games to one and their 42nd decision in the last 56 games.

Billy Pierce was the loser as the first of three White Sox hurlers. The Red Sox fought back for two

Lopat Wins As Oriole

BALTIMORE (AP)—Ed Lopat, making his first start for the Baltimore Orioles, scattered eight Kansas City hits to defeat the Athletics 8-1 Thursday.

Picking up the Yankee influence, the Orioles gave Lopat a lead in the first inning on rookie Bob Hale's two-run single. They added another marker in the third and then batted around to score five more in the fourth.

Hale and Dave Pope, who led the Baltimore attack with three hits in four times at bat, batted home three runs each to make Lopat's job easier.

But it was the 37-year-old southpaw, secured by the Birds on waivers from the Yanks last Saturday, who stole the show as he recorded his fifth victory against eight defeats.

Joe Astor's third homer of the season into the left field bleachers in the third inning was the only run the A's could tally off the slow-balling left-hander.

Lopat displayed his usual brilliant control, failing to yield a single base on balls. He fanned two in succession in the eighth inning for his only strikeouts of the game.

The Champion

Glen Gruenemier was caught in a victorious mood near the clubhouse at Pioneer's Golf Course Thursday morning after winning the championship match of the Junior Boys tournament.

New Champs Assured In Annual Swim Meet

New champions are assured in all divisions of the sixth annual Sunday Journal and Star Junior and Prep Swimming Championships Saturday night at Muny pool.

Harry Kuklin, manager of the pool and director of the meet, has announced that no 1954 champion has entered this summer. Fifty-five swimmers are entered.

Kuklin, Lincoln High swimming coach, added he expects sharp competition in several divisions. In Junior Boys 100-meter backstroke, state AAU champion Charles Rook will compete against three fast Lincoln High swimmers—John Henkle, Larry Converse and Larry Keller.

6 State Champions On All-Tourney Team
GRAND ISLAND—Six members of the Lincoln Optimist baseball team, Nebraska American Legion junior champs, were picked for the state all-star team.

They are Pitchers Duane Steffen and Rudy Stoehr, Infielder Yogi Hergenrader, Outfielders Jon Lutz and John Douthit and Catcher Earl Olman.

2 Games Slated Today In City League Playoff

Two playoffs are scheduled today in the City Baseball League. The regular season ended Thursday, but three teams are tied for the West Division Class A pennant while two are knotted for the East Division Class B crown.

From the pennant playoffs will come two teams to join in inter-division battles for city titles starting Monday.

Whittier, Muny and F Street are tied for the West Division crown. F Street defeated Prescott Thursday, 8-0, to qualify for the three-team battle which starts with a Muny-F Street game at F Street today at 1 p.m.

Whittier, which drew a bye, will play the winner at 9 a.m. Saturday at Muny. The champion will meet Northeast A for the city crown in a best of three series Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Antelope. Each game will start at 7:30 p.m.

Antelope beat College View Thursday, 10-0, and tied Randolph for the East Division Class B pennant. The two teams meet for the title today at Muny at 1 p.m.

The East Class B champion will play Prescott, West Division winner, in the best of three series Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Muny.

Playoff time is 1 p.m. League director Buford Grosscup is polling coaches for determination of winners of two individual awards.

One will go to the Class B boy who is adjudged the most improved player. The other will go

4-Under-Par 68 Leads Golf

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP)—The lesser-known pros had a big time on Tam O'Shanter's sun-cooked links Thursday as they charged into commanding positions after the first round of the $25,000 All-American Golf Tournament.

Touring the 6,915 yards in humid, 96-degree weather in four-under-par 68's were Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., the 1954 National Amateur champion who turned pro last winter; Wally Ulrich of Rochester, Minn., a one-time veteran of the PGA circuit, and Ted Kroll of Utica, N. Y., fifth leading money-winner of the season.

Jammed up, one stroke behind with 69's, were PGA national champion Doug Ford, seasoned Bo Winger, and five longshots—Al Menager of Mamaroneck, N. Y., the National Jaycee champion in 1946 and 1947; tall Tom Talkington of Ypsilanti, Mich., seeking his first tournament victory; Jay Hebert of Woodmere, L. I. N. Y.; George Boles of Danville, Ill., and Walker Inman Jr. of Augusta, Ga., a pro since 1950.

Meanwhile, 18-year-old Wiffi Smith of St. Clair, Mich., gave the pros something to think about as she fired a 74 to top both the women's pro and amateur divisions of the multiple tourney.

The feminine pro lead was deadlocked at 73 between Patty Berg and Carol Bowman. Women's par is 76.

Doug Sanders, University of Florida star, took the men's amateur top spot with a 69. The 1951 National Jaycee champion from Cedar-town, Ga., grabbed a three-stroke margin over England's Phillip Scrutton and Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn.

Bob Astleford, Omaha, Nebraska state amateur champion, racked up a 39-37-76, seven strokes off the pace.

Terry Holds Lead In Air Force Golf

LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va. (AP)—Lt. Ray Terry failed to crack par for the first time in three rounds Thursday but his one-over-par 72 left him three strokes ahead of the World Wide Air Force Golf Tournament field with a 54-hole total of 211.

The son of baseball Hall of Famer Bill Terry, two under par for the first three rounds, fired a steady round of 36-36 over the par 71 Langley Air Force Base course.

Holding on to second place was Lt. William T. Morrow of Shreveport, La., who also fired a 72 Thursday for a three-round score of 214.

Lt. Miller W. Barber of Texarkana, Tex., tightened his grip on third place by posting a 70 for a 215 total. Harold Long of Troy, Ohio, was fourth at 219 and Walter Melton of Enid, Okla., whose 69 was the lowest round of the day, moved into fifth place with 220.

Hunter Optioned To Denver Club
NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees Thursday optioned shortstop Billy Hunter to Denver of the American Assn. in order to make room for infielder Bobby Richardson, who was purchased from Denver Thursday morning.

Hunter, who was obtained from Baltimore in the 18-player deal last winter, has been the Yankees regular shortstop. He batted .227 in 98 games, including one hitless appearance against Cleveland Thursday. Richardson reported to the club Thursday and will be eligible to play Friday.

Cardinals End Losing Streak

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Tom Poholsky pitched a four-hitter Thursday night to snap a six-game St. Louis Cardinals losing streak and hand the New York Giants the first defeat in their last five games, 3-0, in a contest that took only one hour and 47 minutes.

The Redbird right-hander, achieving his fifth victory against six defeats, beat New York a second time by using only 88 pitches of which just 28 missed the plate. He walked one batter and struck out four.

St. Louis, still in a batting slump, managed only five hits off right-hander Ramon Montant, who suffered his fifth setback against one triumph, but the Redbirds bunched two each in the first and sixth innings.

Brooklyn Rally Defeats Braves In Ninth, 11-10

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Brooklyn roared from behind with five runs in the ninth, three of them on Roy Campanella's homer, and weathered a last-ditch rally to nip Milwaukee 11-10 Thursday in a slugfest that boosted the Bums' National League bulge to 15½ games.

Both sides used four pitchers in the wild, seasaw battle that produced a total of 25 hits, including four doubles and six home runs.

A crowd of 32,907 watched the Braves kayo Don Newcombe in the fifth, but the big righthander, whose record is 18-1, didn't get the decision. The victory went to Carl Erskine, third Dodger hurler. He now is 10-4.

The loss was chalked up against Ernie Johnson, third Brave pitcher who came on in the eighth. It evened up his record at 4-4.

Home runs were hit by Bob Thomson (No. 10), Johnny Logan

Banks Is Star As Cubs Win

CHICAGO (AP)—Ernie Banks' hot bat produced three home runs and a single in the collection of seven runs batted in Thursday as the Chicago Cubs edged Pittsburgh, 11-10, for their third win of the five-game series.

The Chicago shortstop got three of the game's eight homers. Both teams pounded out 15 hits. Banks' homers were his Nos. 34, 35, and 36, and gave him a total of five roundtrippers for the five-game set.

Pittsburgh had a 10-9 lead when Banks batted the last time in the eighth. After Dick Littlefield gifted Jim King with a leadoff walk, Banks drove his third homer to give the Cubs their tying and winning runs.

This spree lifted Banks into a temporary tie with Brooklyn's Duke Snider for the major league home leader with 36.

The Cubs scored two runs in the first, one in the second, two more in the third and pushed across four in the fourth for a 9-2 lead.

Dale Long, Dick Groat, Frank Thomas, and Freese blasted the Pittsburgh homers.

NU Gridders Busy Making Dresses, Building Homes

Jobs ranging from construction work to ranch hands to dress factories are included in the summer employment of University of Nebraska football players.

Bob Berguin, center, is doing construction work near his home town of Sioux Falls, S. D. Jack Braley is working on a ranch near Yellowstone Park. Jack is an end.

Jerry Brown, sophomore full-back, is working for an irrigation well digging company, around Minden. George Cifra, returning this fall after a tour of service, put down his occupation as "working for the government."

Don Comstock of Scottsbluff is in summer school. William Coffey is working on the University agronomy farm and for a Lincoln publishing company.

Robert Cupper of Monessen, Pa., writes that he is "helping at home." John Edwards, fullback from North Platte, is in summer school.

William Edwards of Wahoo is working for a contractor in construction of a house. Rex Fischer spent some of the summer in an ROTC camp at Spokane, Wash., and as a bee keeper in Winner, S.D.

Jack Fleming, junior tackle

from Kimball, is working in the oil fields there. Leo George of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., is driving a truck for a newspaper company.

Sylvester Harris, back from Kansas City, is working with his father as an interior decorator. Gene Haman of Omaha was installing air conditioners but has switched to construction work.

William Hawkins of Beatrice was discharged from the Army on August 1. He may get a whirl at the tackle position this fall.

Don Hewitt, end, is an iron worker on the Oahe Dam at Pierre, S.D. Marlin Hilding is working in Omaha on a housing project. Stuart Howerter is working for a truck firm as a parts man. Harry Johnson of Valley is working on a farm. Larry Jones is working in the geological department of an oil company at Sidney.

Don Kampe is doing farm work. The Red Oak, Ia., sophomore is tabbed for first call at a guard position. Dick Kleiber of Hastings is wheeling bricks in a brickyard. Art Klein of Kingston, Pa., is working in a dress factory. Gale Lair listed his summer activities as "ROTC camp followed by hard labor."

Dean Lux was in ROTC camp at Camp Carson, Colo. Bob Lyall is a life guard at the Lincoln Country Club and is attending summer school.

John McWilliams is working for construction company. Dick Moore was in ROTC camp. Doran Post has been working on a farm after attending ROTC camp.

Jack Pugsley of Jay Em, Wyo., is working on his dad's ranch. Dick Prusia of Franklin is doing construction work on irrigation canals.

Don Rhoda is working for a railroad. The York sophomore is listed for the starting right tackle call.

Gene Sandage of Sioux City, Ia.,

is working for a plumbing company.

Potato Outlook 'Exceptionally Good'

Late Planted Fields Receive One Irrigation

KIMBALL, Neb. (AP) — Potato fields in this area look exceptionally good.

That's the report from George Stachwick of the Potato Development Division who said: "Practically all late planted fields have received one irrigation and are making rapid growth."

However, insect surveys made by Stachwick and Kimball County Agent Max Sherwood indicate a very high population of potato psyllids.

Early measures to the insect are needed in order to prevent severe crop losses, Stachwick said.

The wheat harvest in the county will be cleaned up next week. Combines had been making quick work of the harvest until slowed up by a Tuesday night rain.

Fields hailed out earlier have been late maturing. Extension plant pathologist John Wehling reports that in these fields considerable stem rust has developed.

"In most cases there will probably not be heavy damage from this disease," he said.

Platte Center Girl Wins Top Award At Dairy Event

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) — Arlene Schroeder, Platte Center, won the showmanship award in a district dairy show of the Iowa-Nebraska series here.

The Norfolk show was one of a series that will lead to the Ak-Sar-Ben stock show at Omaha this fall. Named as queen of the district show was Coroline Nau, 16, Stanton.

Purple ribbon winners: Arlene—Bonny Macken, Platte center, and Doris Schroeder, Platte Center. Milking Shorthorn—Ramon, Kevin and Nolan Clanton of Howells; Alice and Ellen McCarthy of Jackson, and Camartha, Madison.

Holstein—Clemente Rowlett, Platte Creek; Bill Witten, Madison; Bill Kende, Norfolk; Carol Silhacek, Pierce; Betty Stadler, Dakota City and Leonard Polat, Norfolk.

Mrs. Jennie Best, Hastings, Is Dead

HASTINGS, Neb.—Funeral services for Mrs. Jennie Ray Best, 80, of Hastings, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Methodist Church in Bladen. Burial will be in the Plainview Cemetery.

Mrs. Best, widow of Albert Best, died Thursday at a Hastings hospital. She formerly lived in Morrill and Bladen.

Surviving are four brothers, Wallace Ray of Grand Island, Judge John E. Ray of Hastings, and Robert B. and Webster Ray, both of Lincoln; and a sister, Mrs. Edith Ray Donner of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Rogers Rites Saturday

The funeral of Mrs. Henrietta Rogers, 53, of 2210 No. 30th, will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Browns. Mrs. Rogers died Wednesday.

Burial will be in Wyuka.

Born in Illinois, Mrs. Rogers is survived by her husband, Richard P.; sons, Louie, Raymond and George at home; brother, Clark Davidson of Lincoln; sister, Mrs. Ethel Luft of Los Angeles, Calif.; and three half-brothers.

Freeman Appointed To School Board Post

TABLE ROCK, Neb. — Edwin Freeman has been named to the Table Rock Board of Education, replacing Dale Wright, who resigned. Freeman will serve as treasurer of the board.

Other members of the board are Howard Herrick, president; Mrs. Doris Aylor, secretary; Ed Beebe, Dr. R. J. Uhri and Arthur Meier.

Earl Walz Will Head Music Parents Club

NELIGH, Neb. — New president of the Music Parents Club of the Neligh High School is Earl Walz. Other officers are Mary Buckmaster, vice president; Blanche Burger, secretary; and Ruth Welch, treasurer.

Scattered afternoon thunderstorms are forecast for northern New England, the Middle Atlantic states and southern Florida Friday. Muggy conditions will continue east of the Mississippi. Slightly cooler readings are expected in the upper Great Lakes and upper Mississippi Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Ex-Lincoln Pastor, Wife To Serve As Missionaries In Far East Area

Lincoln Star Special BOSTON — The Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Amin Wittler of Hartington, Neb., and Providence, R.I., have been appointed as career missionaries by the American Board of Foreign Missions, Boston, Massachusetts.

Rev. Wittler

The Wittlers are studying at Hartford Seminary Foundation.

They will be ready for overseas service in 1956, probably being assigned to Turkey. Right now they are attending the interdenominational Missionary Training Conference, at Allegheny College, Meadville, Penn.

The Rev. Mr. Wittler, 26, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wittler of Hartington, was born in that town and educated at Yankton College and Yankton School of Theology.

From 1950 to 1952 he served as pastor of the Congregational Church at West Point, Neb., and from 1953-54 as assistant pastor of the First Plymouth Church, Congregational in Lincoln, Neb. Since coming to Hartford for graduate work he has been interim pastor at the First Congregational Church of Thomaston, Conn.

Mrs. Wittler is the former Nancy Patriquin of Providence, R.I. She was educated at Schaffler College, Ohio, and Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Corn Picking Meet Planned For Fairbury

FAIRBURY, Neb. (AP) — The fourth annual Nebraska Mechanical Corn Picking Contest will be held here.

It will be sponsored by WOW-TV of Omaha and the Fairbury Chamber of Commerce. Representatives of the two groups will meet later to work out arrangements.

The winner and runner-up will represent Nebraska in the National Corn Picking Contest in St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 15.

Previous Nebraska contests have been held in Grand Island, York and Elkhorn.

Falls City Gets New Fire Truck

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP) — The city received delivery on a new fire truck which cost approximately $15,000. It is equipped with a 750 gallon pumper.

The new vehicle will give the city two first-class trucks and a third which will be retained for emergency and fire drill use.

Streets At Scribner Getting Coat Of Oil

Lincoln Star Special SCRIBNER, Neb. — A coat of oil is being placed on Scribner streets this week. According to John Steil, city clerk, 28,000 gallons of oil is on hand and as many streets as possible will be oiled.

Last year 55 blocks received an oil coat. These blocks will receive a second coat this year and in addition 10 or 15 more blocks will get a coating.

-134th Infantry-Guard Continues Maneuvers

Helicopters, Tanks Join Foot Soldiers

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn. (AP) — Nebraska's National Guard 134th Infantry regiment Thursday had its second day of battle maneuvers in the Mud Lake area 14 miles north of camp.

For the first time helicopters and tanks joined the foot soldiers in attack maneuvers.

Tanks from Gering's tank company screened neighboring "foot-sloggers" from Scottsbluff's I company in one attack. High above a helicopter hovered spotting aggressor troops. Realism was added with blank ammunition and smoke screens.

A mile away a motorized patrol from Grand Island's G company had to fight its way out of a road block ambush.

Mosquito Hazard

The 105 mm howitzers of Nebraska's 56th field artillery battalion with units from Omaha, Wahoo, Wayne, Crete and Broken Bow slammed shells home on targets in simulated attack support.

Throughout the night patrols scoured the swamps and forests. Mosquitoes were their biggest enemies.

Col. William Bachman, Omaha, regimental commander, said he was pleased with the "smoothness of the operations."

"One more night and we are over the hump," he said.

The dirty and tired Nebraskans will return to the camp area Friday afternoon.

Iowa's two regiments will follow them into the field next week.

Watershed Air Tour Plans Set

BEATRICE, Neb. (AP) — Final plans have been laid for the Indian Creek Watershed air tour Aug. 18-20.

The tour, designed to give farmers a bird's eye view of soil conservation practices in the watershed, is sponsored by the Gage County Soil Conservation Service and the Beatrice Chamber of Commerce.

Sale of tickets for the flight, to be conducted in two planes, will be limited to 300.

Cornerstone Ceremony Set

Lincoln Star Special WAHOO, Neb. — Cornerstone laying services for the new Men's Dormitory at Luther College and Academy will be held next Sunday at 4 p.m., according to President Theodore E. Johnson.

Officers of the Augustana Lutheran Church will participate in the service. They include the Rev. J. Sabin Swenson, president, and the Rev. Maynard Wellington, vice president. Alfred Brodahl of Wahoo, chairman of the board of directors, will assist.

Construction on the $150,000 residence for men is progressing according to schedule. The building is scheduled for occupancy on Dec. 1, 1955. It will house 87 men and a housemother.

L. T. Sunderland Dies; Ex-Omahan

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Lester T. Sunderland, 87, former Omaha businessman, died at his home in Kansas City, Mo.

He was chairman of the executive committee of the Ash Grove Lime and Portland Cement Company at the time of his death. He had served as president of the company 33 years from 1913.

He was an operator of the Omaha Coal, Coke and Lime Company in 1887. He left Omaha in 1909 to join Ash Grove.

The company has a plant at Louisville, Neb., that was built while Mr. Sunderland served as company president.

Plans Under Way For Dodge Fair

Lincoln Star Special SCRIBNER, Neb. — Plans for the 50th annual Dodge County Fair to be held Sept. 14-16 at Scribner are well under way, according to Elmer Stoltzman, secretary-manager.

The Scribner Chamber of Commerce is aiding the Dodge County Agriculture Association in making plans for the golden anniversary of the annual affair.

President of the Agriculture Association is Roy Sievers. Other officers are Albert Tuchenhagen, vice president; H. W. Havekost, treasurer; Emil Grosc, Clarence Zucker and Louis Voipp, directors.

2 Minden Firms Damaged By Fire

MINDEN, Neb. — Cause of the blaze damaging two business places here has not been determined, according to authorities.

The fire started in the shop of the Kearney County Farm service, owned by Mervin Peterson, and spread to the Star Neon Company plant, owned by LaVern Olson and Oliver Bjorklund. Olson is owner of the building which is of cement block construction.

The interior of the building was badly damaged, and loss was said to be heavy. However, no estimate of the damage was available.

Now Surf keeps new nylon white

- gets old, dingy nylon white again

- gets all laundry whiter than ever!

Do you have any white nylon — a slip, perhaps, or a blouse — too dingy to wear, but too good to throw away? Here's great news! Now you can get it really white again!

There's a new scientific whitenener in Surf that puts the power of ultraviolet rays (like those in sunshine) to work for you. And it works whether you dry your things indoors or out! No bleach or bluing needed. Nothing extra to buy. Right from the start, Surf alone keeps nylon white. And after several washes, you'll see that it also gets old nylon white!

Use Surf for everything—no other detergent can get all your wash (cotton-rayon-nylon) as white and clean. Yet it's completely safe (mild to hands, too). And you've got to agree, or we'll return every penny you paid. Better put Surf on your shopping list right now!

Ordinance No. 6103

AN ORDINANCE amending Sections 251 and 2119 of Ordinance No. 5636 passed November 2, 1953 relating to zoning and replanning said Sections 251 and 2119 of Ordinance No. 5636 passed November 2, 1953 as heretofore existing.

BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska:

Section 1. That Section 251 of Ordinance No. 5636 passed November 2, 1953 be and it hereby is amended to read as follows:

"Section 251. Yard. Rear. A yard extending across the rear of a lot, measured between the side lot lines, and being the minimum horizontal distance between the rear lot line and the rear of the main building or any projections therefrom, steps, unenclosed balconies or unenclosed porches, on corner lots the rear yard may be to the rear of either street, provided that the minimum rear yard depth requirement shall be calculated on the longest average lot dimension. On interior lots the rear yard shall in all cases be at the opposite end of the lot from the front yard."

Section 2. That Section 2119 of Ordinance No. 5636 passed November 2, 1953 be and it hereby is amended to read as follows:

"Section 2119. The front yards heretofore established shall be adjusted in the following cases:

(a) Where forty (40) per cent or more of the frontage on the same side of a street between two intersecting streets is occupied with two or more buildings that have with a variation of five (5) feet or less a front yard greater in depth than herein required, new buildings shall not be erected closer to the street than the front yard so established by the existing building nearest the street.

(b) Where forty (40) per cent or more of the frontage on the same side of a street between two intersecting streets is developed with two or more buildings that have a front yard of less depth than herein required, then:

(1) Where a building is to be erected on a parcel of land that is within one hundred (100) feet of existing buildings, the minimum front yard shall be a line drawn between the two closest front corners of the adjacent buildings on each side of the street.

(c) Where a building is to be erected on a parcel of land that is within one hundred (100) feet of existing buildings on one side only, such building may be erected as close to the street as the existing adjacent building."

Section 3. Upon petition of the majority of the property owners of a street, the City Planning Commission may establish a different front yard than that herein required.

Section 4. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication according to law.
